

Wild Edibles: Natures Bounty

Saturday, April 24, 2021

Wetland Steward Bob Richie will share his passion for urban foraging. We'll start with a quick botany lesson on how to positively identify the plants we'll be looking for. Then we'll search out and try some of the fresh and tasty offerings that grow naturally in the area, discussing the practical and medicinal uses of them.

- Where: John Bunker Sands Wetland Center
- Time: 10:00am - 12:00pm
- Cost: $20.00/person • Space is Limited
- Email: ldunn@wetlandcenter.com
- Call: 972-474-9100

Register Here

Bob Richie is a Dallas native who raises bees, chickens, rabbits, cats and dogs. He likes almost everything outdoors. An amateur naturalist since an early age he has spent much of his life outdoors.

When Bob's not spending time outdoors he works for an architectural firm in Deep Ellum and is the owner of The Custom Coop Company which builds custom chicken coops. Bob is a certified Texas Master Naturalist

