

Wetland Steward Opportunities

We would love for you or your group to join the family of Wetland Stewards that call the Wetland Center their home. All volunteers of the Wetland Center are referred to as a “Steward of JBS Wetland Center.” Our Stewards show a level of commitment which reflects their willingness to take care of their natural world and share that passion with those around them. Whether it’s helping in an education program, working at the front desk or digging in the native garden, our Stewards help us in fulfilling our mission of educating the public in the areas of water quality, conservation and wetland systems. Take a look at some of our current opportunities.
